

The game was underway...and Maggie Dean has only one objective in mind, cold hearted revenge.

The hunted: Her family who had betrayed her and a sister who has everything whilst she has nothing.

The prize: A long planned retribution finally realised.

Enter Harry Stone, a private investigator who has been employed to find Maggie Dean before she finds her prey. What Harry doesn't plan on is falling for the daughter of his client.

As the threat moves ever closer and as the hunted becomes the hunter, can the investigator keep his eye on the job before Maggie Dean completes her personal vendetta?

The clock is ticking...

Time is running out...